DRUNK DRIVING COULD HAVE COSTLY RESULT

"John Barleycorn" is a dangerous passenger.

This was the theme of a statement today by the public safety department of the California State Automobile Association, discussing the risks that a motorist is exposed to if he drives when he has been drinking.

"We all know that driving while intoxicated is dangerous to other motorists and to pedestrians," the statement said. But what the intoxicated driver usually fails to realize is that it is dangerous for him, too; not only the physical danger, but because it may cost him as much as $5,000 or five years in prison, or both fine and imprisonment.

"Drunk driving may be only a misdemeanor, punishable by a $50 to $500 fine or one to six months in jail. But if by direct action or neglect a driver injures anyone while he, the driver, is under the influence of liquor, then drunk driving becomes a felony punishable by a $200 to $5,000 fine or one to five years in prison, or both fine and imprisonment, and revocation of the driver's license for a year or more.

"You'd say it was good business to invest in a $3 taxicab bill to save anywhere from $50 to $5,000 in fines, or the stigma of prison, or, more important than all, to keep one's conscience free of the burden of having maimed or killed a fellow being.

"By resolutely refraining from driving if he has been drinking the motorist not only protects his money and his liberty but he also shows regard for the welfare of others."

CHIEF VALUE OF EDUCATION IS PAYING QUALITY

University Educator Says Cash Return Is Best Reason For College Attendance

The Dean of men at Kent State University, Kent, Ohio, Raymond E. Manchester has outlined in the following article a worthy ideal for every college minded boy and girl.

We have many laments over the depression but the depression taught us some things we might have waited years to learn. One thing we learned was the fallacy of the notion that the chief value of education was its paying quality.

Of all the values of education, cash return should rate at the bottom of the list. Education should contribute to a man's spiritual and mental estate and make it possible for him to be happier and more useful to society. All other values are secondary.

Go to college for the sake of the college experience; the opportunity to associate with a select group of persons interested in the same things you are interested in; the opportunity to use a library; the opportunity to be with experts in various fields; the opportunity to express yourself in class discussion; the opportunity to enjoy a type of social life peculiar to student groups; the opportunity to try out points of view and attitudes toward social institutions and the opportunity to dream dreams of the future.

Change Baseball Coach At Jaysee

After coaching the baseball squad for eleven years, Dr. Harold Taggart, dean of men at San Mateo Junior College, gave up the extra work because of the press of office work and teaching duties. His coaching will be taken over by Lee Bissett, gym instructor and assistant football coach.

Taggart won two conference titles during his coaching and got his team into the top half every other year. He developed some players who went on to the coast and eastern big leagues and this coming season appeared to have some of the best prospects San Mateo has had in the last four years.

Western Coaches Organize Team for East-West Game

Organizing a football team is no easy matter, both Percy Locey, (left) athletic director of Oregon State College, and "Babe" Hollingbery, Washington State College football coach, agree as they scan telegrams of acceptance from grid stars throughout the country. Each year the pick of the country's football crop is chosen to play the annual East-West game on New Year's Day in San Francisco for the benefit of crippled children. Locey and Hollingbery will coach the team chosen for the West.

GOVERNOR WILL CALL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Governor Merriam, early this week, stated he would probably call the State Legislature into special session early in the coming year.

Referring to state interests in tideland oil pools at Huntington Beach, Wilmington and Long Beach, the Governor said:

"There is every indication at this time that the oil situation will demand a special session of the Legislature to protect the state's interests."

He indicated that the Legislature likely will also take up measures to enable California to participate in the Federal Government's projected low-cost housing program.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL EXCEEDS DALY CITY QUOTA

Mrs. Horace Fellows, Roll Call chairman for Daly City, announces that our city has again surpassed its quota in raising funds for the American Red Cross.

Appreciation and credit is due Mrs. Evelyn Zgraggen, Mrs. Alice Reilley and Mrs. Mary Crane, who gave many hours in assisting in the campaign.

Also thanks are extended to our city council, grammar and high school faculties, merchants, organizations and all public spirited citizens who so willingly co-operated in this splendid work.

Honor Guests Of Journalism Class

Clive M. Saiz, president of the Central California Journalism Advisors Association, and Winola Ford, editor of the Senior Edition, at Jefferson Union High School, were special guests of the journalism class of South San Francisco High School, Tuesday of this week, when a group of students were initiated into the International Society of Scroll.

Mr. Saiz delivered a brief talk to the young journalists on the general topic "Journalism As a Career," in which he stressed the need for knowledge along many lines and emphasized the fact that brevity is one of the essentials in the profession.

COMMUNITY CHURCH

Sunday School services on Sunday, 10 a. m., at the Fire Hall. Following this service the Rev. Donaldson will deliver the Sunday sermon. Mr. Donaldson is an excellent speaker and you will enjoy hearing him. Why not come out Sunday and find out?

The Advisory Board of the Church will meet during the week to further plans for the new building.

The ladies will meet to trim the Xmas tree on Sunday afternoon. Men are also invited.

Next Sunday there will be a treat for the youngsters and an entertainment at the Brisbane Fire Hall.

Torso Of Unknown Man Found At Beach

The body of an unidentified man was found, Sunday, by J. H. Zeigler of 1131 Brunswick street, where it had been washed ashore at Thornton Beach.

The only clue to identity was a silver belt buckle bearing the initial "W." The head, arms and legs were missing.

The body was interred this week in Cypress Lawn Memorial Park.

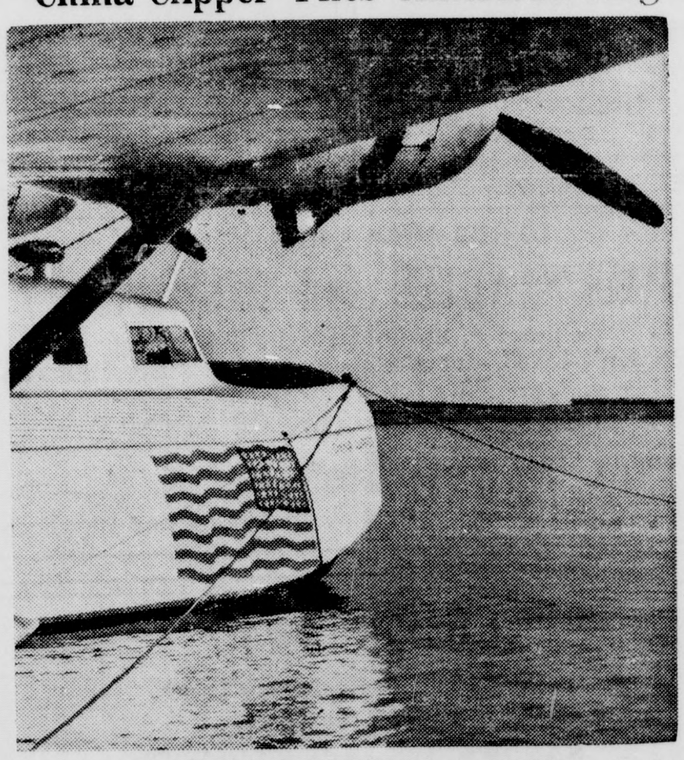
CARELESSNESS AIDS ACCIDENTS

The National Safety Council says: "The driver is the most important element in our traffic accident situation. Some drivers have accidents because they are actually defective in mind or body. A much greater number have accidents because they do not know how to drive. They do not observe right of way rules, stop signs or traffic signals, to say nothing of their obligation toward pedestrians.

The greatest number of drivers who have accidents are neither physically defective nor ignorant of traffic rules. They do not really want to have an accident, but neither do they sufficiently want not to have one. They take chances and they expect other drivers and pedestrians to get out of their way."—San Mateo County Traffic Safety Commission.

When Rev. Winfield Edson of Oakland, Calif., was invited to preach a trial sermon at a Fremont, Neb., church, he thought 1800 miles too far to travel, so he sent motion pictures of himself. He received the pastorate.

China Clipper 'Flies' American Flag



Before leaving San Francisco for her trip to China, the huge China Clipper was adorned with an American flag painted on her fuselage. The flying boat is making her first trip to Hong Kong and is taking no chances of being mistaken for an "enemy" plane by either side of the warring Oriental nations. Aboard the ship was Doris Duke Cromwell, who flew to her home in the Hawaiian Islands. Photo shows the flag painted on the China Clipper.

BIG FEATURE AT HOME COURSE ON GETAWAY DAY

Some Of Best Thoroughbreds In Country To Be Seen In San Francisco Handicap

Amor Brujo, considered to be the greatest foreign equine invader since Phar Lap, will shoulder 125 pounds in the $10,000 added San Francisco Handicap at Tanforan, on getaway day, tomorrow, Saturday, December 18. On the basis of two sensational victories here in his only two American starts, Racing Secretary Julius G. Reeder ranks him second only to Seabiscuit in the mile and a sixteenth classic which rings down the curtain on the fall racing season in San Mateo County.

Seabiscuit, not now scheduled to start, was given top weight of 132 pounds.

Clockers, watching the flying black champion from Uraguay in his morning trials, predicted that Amor Brujo would defeat Seabiscuit if they ever meet. They made their

NEW BROADWAY TUNNEL MODERN UNIT OF TRAFFIC

Breaking the traffic barrier of the range of hills between Alameda and Contra Costa counties, the new Broadway low level tunnel also provides an impressive example of the trend toward building safety into highways and other traffic structures.

Supplanting the old high level tunnel and its narrow and winding westerly approach road as a connection between the East Bay cities and Walnut Creek in Contra Costa county and interior points, the new tunnel consists of two bores completely separating opposing streams of traffic and embodies modern ventilation and lighting devices.

The two bores are about 134 feet apart on their center lines, converging at the portals. Passing through the hills for a distance of 2910 feet, the tunnel is ventilated by an effective system. A feature of the lighting plan is a gradual transition from sunlight to artificial light upon entering the tunnel, thus avoiding the usual temporary difficulty of vision.

Traffic from the west has a choice of two routings to the new tunnel. One is via U. S. 50 to Broadway, thence out Broadway to the tunnel approach road. The other route is via U. S. 40, the East Shore Highway, to Ashby avenue in Berkeley and thence along Ashby avenue to the old tunnel road, using that road for a short distance to the junction of the new road leading to the new tunnel. The Ashby avenue section of this route is part of State Route 24, as are the tunnel and its connecting roads at both ends. The Landvale road serves as a connection between the westerly approach of the new tunnel and East Oakland.

Excellent newly improved highway extends from the easterly portal to Walnut Creek.

High School P.-T. A. Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Jefferson Union High School P.-T. A. was held at the school, Wednesday afternoon of this week. The subject of the meeting was "Home as a center of moral and spiritual training becomes a great factor in developing universal peace."

Mrs. E. N. Kirkbride, district character education chairman, was the speaker.

There was a special program of music by the students. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

The next board meeting will be held January 5. Mrs. Edith Barker and Mrs. Pearl Jones will be hostesses.

During their divorce trial at Tulsa, Okla., I. H. Dawson smiled at his wife. She returned his smile and they became reconciled, dropping the divorce suit.

JEFFERSON HIGH MAGAZINE NOW IN CIRCULATION

Students Perform All Actual Work In Connection With Publication of Their School Paper

This week Jefferson Union High School introduced its first literary magazine, The Scroll, which is composed entirely of original writings of the students. All the contributions were written voluntarily and the work of any student in the school was welcomed. The mimeographing was done by the commercial classes and the art work was a contribution of the art class. The magazine is to be published once a semester, at a price of ten cents, which is charged to cover the cost of publishing and not for making of profit. This semester 250 copies were printed and they will be on sale as long as they last. The aim of the magazine is not only to provide enjoyment to the reader, but also to give the talented young writers of the high school an opportunity to express themselves.

The Scroll is not only written and produced by the students, but it is also managed by them. The staff is as follows: Editor, Helen Day; Associate Editor, Eleanor Price; Business Manager, Bacci Delfino; Publicity, Alice Sanders and Lorraine Day. Short stories, Patsy O'Brien; Essays, Leon Fletcher; Poetry, Betty Jane Keller; Reviews, Mark Kanter; Art Editor, Patricia Schoening; Typist, Melba Warren.

The students who contributed to the magazine are Alice Campbell, Helen Day, Eugene Doyle, Leon Fletcher, Yvonne Franks, Evan Gillespie, Mark Kanter, Betty Jane Keller, Joe Nicoletti, Alice Nolan, Patsy O'Brien, Edith Paginini, Eleanor Price, Alice Sanders, Mary Yonan and Dorothy Zeiger.

BRISBANE PTA

Mrs. Margaret Davis Weller was guest speaker for the Brisbane Parent-Teacher Association at their regular monthly meeting, Thursday night at the school. Mrs. Weller was Adult Education instructor for the unit's study group course, and we feel honored that she will again start classes in January.

"Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men" was her topic, which is very timely at this season of the year and when wars are at every hand.

A very good program was given by the children. A play, "The Lazy Elf," was given by Mrs. Holbrock's fourth grade pupils, even Santa was there.

Coming in from the snow, Miss White's carollers sang two numbers.

The "Little Old Lady," Helen Richards, was assisted in her number by Peggy Probst and Lillian Van Zant.

The playlet "Why the Chimes Rang" had a good cast and everyone did very well.

When the lovely new curtains parted, showing the scenery, it made everyone glad that Mr. John Van Kirk is a willing worker in our unit. The president, Mrs. Gertha McKinney, wishes to publicly thank him for the hard work he put in, and donation of much of the materials. There are other fathers in the unit, how about some of you men coming out and lending a helping hand?

Do you like the curtains in the school assembly room? They are gifts from the Parent-Teacher Association. If you haven't seen them yet, how about coming out to our meetings? The same program will be given for the children's benefit, Tuesday, December 21, at 8 p. m., but with one difference, Santa will be there.

Tuesday's grocery whist was a huge success. It was the last of the pre-Xmas whists, but by popular demand, they will continue after the holidays.

Prize winners were Mr. E. Morley, first; Billy Strassberger, second; Frieda Pisthol, third; Ethel Jones, fourth; Ruey Coffin, consolation. That's not all, a chinchilla rabbit went just for the guessing.

A radio was turned on so those attending could hear Roy Edwards on the Homestead Hour. A big hand is due this Brisbane boy, we predict he is going far. How about some music for the P.-T. A., Roy?

ROCKAWAY BEACH PEDRO VALLEY

By C. H. T.

The furious storm of last week finally passed without doing any great damage at either of our two towns, but for the time it lasted, everything seemed on the verge of being uprooted and blown bodily into the sea. Trees rocked and bent in the gale, loose boards in the houses rattled, foundations trembled and roads ran mud and torrents of water that left them in a deplorable condition. Where the birds stayed while it rained and blustered, is just one of those mysteries. At the first glint of sunshine, out they flew, probably with a good appetite for food, after their two-day fasting. The sod on the Johnsen roof grew an inch or so, and emphasized its vivid color to the brightest of jade green. But the gardens! Bushes had to be helped to their feet, brushed off and staked straight again; prostrate flower plants had to be cut off, or uprooted, to avoid that straggly appearance in the garden walks, and, as for houses, they simply had to be turned in-side-out and given a needful dose of warm sun to dry out the dampness. Heigh-ho! We're all glad it's over.

Mrs. Edgar Bailey and her baby son, William Frank, have arrived in Rockaway to spend the holidays with the family. Edgar, the proud papa, hopes to join the group a little later. Not until the baby grows up, will he realize that he enjoyed his very first Christmas with his grandmother, Mrs. Coletha Bailey, and his tiny great-grandmother, Mrs. Chenoweth. The grandfather, Mr. William Bailey, who is still away, slowly recovering from his long illness, was eagerly anticipating a return to his family, but the doctor says, "No." Merry Christmas, just the same!

The best news, so far, came to us the other day, when the doctor in atendance upon Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Cubbon assured Mr. Harry Danmann, in a brief visit, that the two badly injured patients were doing very well after their serious automobile accident two Sundays ago, when another car ran into theirs. This news of the convalescence of the Cubbons comes happily to all Pedro people who know them. Congratulations, Frances and Forrest!

Sightseers along the beach report seals close in, sleeping in their curious fashion, eight or ten in a circle, with flippers interlocked, drifting in the sea, off-shore until it's time to hunt fish for dinner. This seal circle is one of the sights of the coastside. It resembles a castoff auto tire, badly tattered. Some time ago there were picture postcards that showed seals sleeping in this close formation, but until one has actually seen it, such pictures look like just another of those trick camera effects.

Why wouldn't it be a good idea to organize the neighborhood boys, of 12 to 18, into a branch of the Pedro Valley Improvement Club, to report things that require improvement in the locality, with a working group that might help make smaller repairs, mend holes in the roads, straighten young trees, and so forth. This sort of "look-see-and-help-fix" work might make a boy feel that he really belonged to the community, was responsible for its well-being. And both the boy and the community would benefit. Boys will become citizens later on, and they might start young to know (actively and practically) what it's all about.

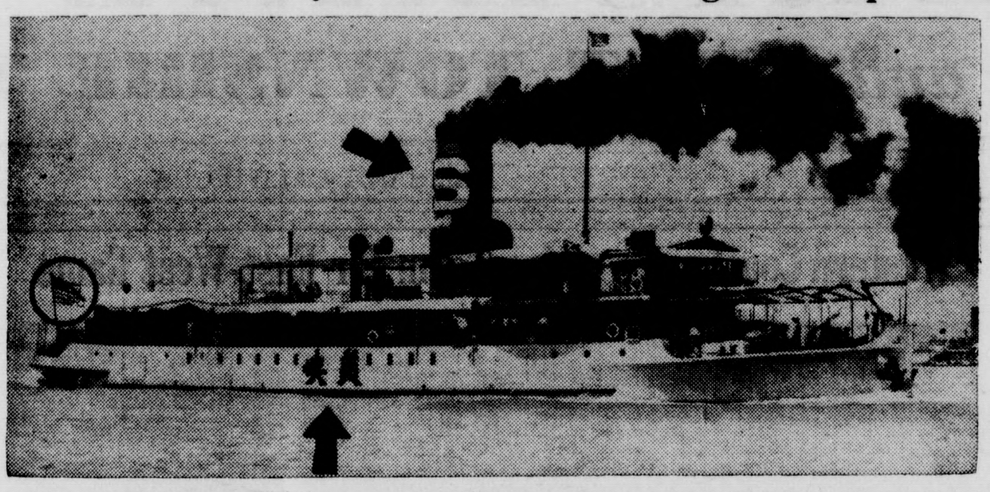
Short thoughts in a long moment: Wonder how the Rockaway whist party turned out last night? Its object was to provide the annual tree for the local youngsters. The Fred Bohrs spent several days this week at their top-side summer home, enjoying the magnificent view. The Beaver car executes a sensational turn on the extreme heights above his house, thrilling to watch. Mrs. Bailey danced all evening, from 10 to 4 a. m., at the Hobo Dance—and looked as bright as a daisy next day. Dr. and Mrs. Le Fevre occupied their house on Grande avenue last week. The Coles drove down to see what the recent storm did to their handsome garden. At the height of the storm something blew out with a glare of blinding blue light. Thereafter, all the electric lights in Pedro homes blinked and winked in a disconcerting manner the remainder of the night. Jinny, the Conboy burro, is an ornament on the hillside, giving a veritable wild west tinge to the locality, with his companions, the tethered nanny-goats. Slides and more slides on the new highway. Many complaints due to the fact that subscribers fail to receive their weekly paper. Some have missed seven successive weeks, and naturally they inquire the reason. Does anyone know? Papers ought to reach their proper destination, because we Pedro residents now have our own post office, and a careful, conscientious postmaster, Mrs. Stanley Blume, who does all that anyone can, to give the best of postal service to the community. So the fault must lie elsewhere. We sincerely hope this matter can soon be satisfactorily adjusted, for our local subscribers.

'Poor Visibility' Claimed for Bombing U. S. Ships



Japanese claim that poor visibility and inability to discern any mark of identification indicating that they were American ships, was the cause of the recent bombing of the U. S. S. Panay and three oil tankers in the Yangtze River. Survivor witnesses refuted the Japanese statement by declaring visibility was excellent and added Japanese launches machine-gunned the Panay and that soldiers boarded her before she sank. Photo shows the Standard Oil tanker Meishia, one of the bomb victims. Note the Stars and Stripes flying on the masthead and also astern. Arrow points to other marks of identification on stack and side of ship.

BAYSHORE NEWS

Merry Christmas! It will soon be here! What? Why the city of Bayshore annual Christmas tree party, entertainment and dance. When? On Wednesday evening, December 22, 1937 at 8 o'clock sharp. First there will be a program featuring professional and local talent, a greeting to the people of Bayshore by Mayor Jack Lawson and other members of the council, Santa Claus and his helpers who will distribute gifts and candy and ice cream to the children, a huge birthday cake to be cut by the mayor and council and refreshments for all the grown-ups, and to top things off Mel Lyons and his well known music will be on hand to play for those who wish to trip the light fantastic. The price of admission? Why just your good will and Christmas spirit. This is one night of the year when every man, woman and child in Bayshore will be guests of the city of Bayshore, so we'll be seeing you at the City Hall next Wednesday night.

Tuesday evening of this week Miss Nola Ford was guest of honor on her eighteenth birthday at a party given for her by her sister and brother in law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Miller at their home on Rio Verde street. The party was a surprise and a grand time was had by all. The following were guests: Merriam Marin, Orian Marin, Frankie Ford, Frances Richards, Dorothy Durbin, Essie Ford, Tommy Ryan, Edith Shiffman, Edith Taylor, June Volkman, Dick Molay, Raymond Kennedy, Johnny Sparks, Chet Kellog, Grant Smith, Plenio Grazzanni and Bob Wright.

Pete Bailey of Schwerin street was married to Miss Henrietta Lueders of San Francisco, Saturday evening of last week. The couple will make their home in Bayshore.

* * *

B. Leonard is visiting the Mardecichs. He will stay for about five weeks.

Bert Ford of Schwerin street is making repairs on his house.

Mrs. Plum's children will exchange small gifts this year. Each child drew a name, unknown to him, from a box and he will give a small humorous gift not to exceed fifteen cents. Mrs. Plum's class will present a Christmas program on the last day of school when the Bayshore P. T. A. holds its annual Christmas party. Singing and music made by bells, triangles and harmonicas will make up the program.

predictions before the 5-year-old ever faced the gate here. In his only two starts, Amor Brujo has crushed his rivals, winning with ease each time, just beginning to open up as the wire loomed in front of him.

He will not lack for opposition on Saturday, however. Fair Knightess, greatest 4-year-old race mare on the American turf, will mark her fall debut here Saturday, under 122 pounds.

The crack three-horse entry of Major Austin C. Taylor, Vancouver, B. C., sportsman, will play an important part in the running of the San Francisco Handicap. Indian Broom, assigned 118 pounds, broke the track record for six furlongs in his only start here this fall. He was giving weight away to Seabiscuit in the last Santa Anita Handicap, and was third to Rosemont and the "Biscuit," beaten only a length for all of the money. Whichee, a brilliant 3-year-old, is in with 110 pounds, while Jargo, a superlative mud-running 3-year-old, slips in with 106 pounds, rounding out the Taylor trio.

Other starts in the counter include the stakes winning Star Shadow, 118; King Saxon, 118; Sabueso, 116; Chanceview, 114; Tick On, 114; Sargazo, 114; Your Honor, 108; Marynell, 108; Primulus, 106; Count Atlas, 106 and Rommy, 104.

Lesson Sermon Of Christian Science

"Thou, O Lord, shalt endure for ever; and thy remembrance unto all generations. Of old hast thou laid the foundations of the earth: and the heavens are the work of thy hands." These words from Psalms comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, December 19, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "O Lord God of hosts, who is a strong Lord like unto thee? or to thy faithfulness round about thee? . . . The heavens are thine, the earth also is thine: as for the world and the fulness thereof, thou hast founded them" (Ps. 89: 8, 11).

The following passages from the Christian Science textbooks, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "Erring power is a material belief, a blind miscalled force, the offspring of will and not of wisdom, of the mortal mind and not of the immortal. . . . Moral and spiritual might belong to Spirit, who holds the 'wind in His fists;' and this teaching accords with Science and harmony" (p. 192).

STEERING GEAR

One of the most important units of an automobile is the steering mechanism and it is essential that it be mechanically perfect at all times.

Striking the curb with a front wheel should be avoided, and even heavy pressure of wheel against curb may throw the system out of alignment.

FIRESIDE CHATTER

(Louise K. Lueke)

Hello, folks, hope you are all in one piece since our terrible storm. Brisbane had its toll, no one hurt, but our nighbor's garage was placed neatly across Monterey street and his fence was torn down at the same time. Mr. Davis had a portion of his roof torn off and the end of his porch broken up. Trees were uprooted all over the tract and fences were in bad shape. Garbage cans were thrown through the air like leaves, mine was in the driveway out in front, and I believe there is still one at the post office in the gutter. A roof was torn from a trailer and the remainder was thrown into a ditch. The firemen were out in all that storm, lending a hand to those people in distress. Our new sign board was completely demolished.

Well, Xmas is just about here and everywhere in the tract you will find busy people trying to get last-minute preparations finished. The school had a party Tuesday. Friday night, December 24, the Xmas tree of the Community Church will blaze forth and unless it rains too hard, everyone who will, is asked to gather at the tree and sing Christmas songs. The tree will be on the church property, Visitation avenue, between Klamath and Mariposa street. Christmas morning the firemen will have their usual treat and Sunday, the Community Sunday School will have a treat and entertainment for the kiddies at the fire house, at 10 a. m.

Miss Louise DeLuchie entertained a group of nurses from the San Francisco Hospital at Sutros, one day last week. Ice skating was the sport of the evening and all had a splendid time, even the ones who couldn't stay on their feet. Miss De Luchie is the sister of Mrs. Walter Gull. Mrs. Gull was among the guests of the evening.

Mothers of little children who let them roam around Brisbane please listen: The motor cycle club that visits here so often has the erroneous idea that San Bruno avenue is a race track, speeding up and down the street racing each other. These people have no regard for their own lives, surely you can not expect them to care about your child. I caught a little boy, who was too young to tell me his name, from the path of one of these cyclists, one day last week. I was told the child lived near Sierra Point road. He was alone and went back home alone. God gave you these babies. Don't you want to keep them?

Mrs. Davis, Monterey near San Bruno, has a fine angora cat that has come to her door. It seems to be a pet and if any one has lost a cat, or wants to adopt one, Mrs. Davis will be glad to see them.

Gus Gomez wishes to thank his many friends in Brisbane for their timely help during his recent bereavement in the loss of his father, John Gomez.

Ore. Woman Is 1812 Pensioner

Mrs. Esther Ann Hill Morgan

Aged Mrs. Esther Ann Hill Morgan of Independence, Ore., is one of only two pensioners of the War of 1812. Mrs. Carolina King of Cheektowaga, N. Y., receives the other pension for the loss of her husband, a New York militia private, Darius King. Mrs. Morgan is the daughter of John Hill, who fought for Uncle Sam in the days of President Madison. The treaty of Ghent ended the War of 1812, the day before Christmas, 122 years ago.

Daly City Record Correspondent Enjoys Annual Party Of Our National Bureau Of Standards In Washington

(By Hart Goodrich)

Did you ever feel as Alice must have felt in a Wonderland of strange shapes and magic? Your correspondent played the part of Alice last Monday night at the Bureau of Standard's thirtieth birthday party. There is probably no more important, and yet least known branch of the government than this bureau.

The party was given primarily to members of the staff and their families, as the facilities for more guests were limited. Its four large buildings, situated on a high hill overlooking Washington, were ablaze with lights, and the show that members of the staff put on was worthy of the most talented magicians.

Liquid air played a big role in the show and put frozen inner tube, frozen beef steaks and frozen mercury (that silvery liquid in your thermometer) through their paces. The air you breathe becomes a liquid at 310 degrees below zero (Fahrenheit) and boils when it is exposed to room temperature. When a piece of inner tube is immersed in it, the usually pliable rubber breaks into many pieces if struck by a hammer. Even the hammer used was interesting, as it was made of that silvery liquid, mercury, frozen so it was at least as hard as lead. A bell, made of babbitt metal that usually could emit only a dull "clink" was transformed by the fairy wand of liquid air into a silver-toned bell. A great many substances, when subjected to the intense cold of frozen air, lose their color. Iodine changes to a light orange.

The Bureau of Standards maintains its own broadcasting station, used primarily for scientific purposes. It operates on three radio waves, which are so exact that they are used by radio set manufacturers in testing newly-made sets, by radio inspectors in policing the air waves for unlawful and unlicensed broadcasting and by college radio research laboratories. Only recently, the bureau has been broadcasting the Standard Musical Pitch, the exact note of "A" above middle "C." It can be heard on the Pacific Coast by any all-wave receiver at 5000 kilocycles, late in the evening. The amateur piano tuner could easily tune his piano (if he knew how) through this true pitch. It is used by musical instrument manufacturers and musicians all over the country.

The small amounts of that precious metal, radium, purchased for medical use, will be measured by the Bureau of Standards, free, for hospitals and doctors. This metal sells for $30,000 a gram. The State Hospital in Buffalo, N. Y., has probably the largest quantity in one lump—seven grams, or $210,000 worth. When this seven grams was measured and checked by the Bureau of Standards, it was carefully wrapped and carried by an old negro messenger employed by the bureau, to the express station, where he was met by an armed guard, which watched the treasure until delivered to the New York hospital. The poor old fellow almost collapsed when he was told he had been carrying $210,000 worth of something.

The functions of the bureau can be defined as including not merely standards of measurement and standard constants of physics and chemistry, but also standards of quality of performance and of practice. The bureau has the most efficient research staff in the country devoted to problems of engineering and industry.

The high standard of perfection maintained by the Bureau of Standards may be summed up in the inspiring words of Lyman J. Briggs, director, who gives us its objective as:

"To serve our countrymen and government with fidelity. To develop the methods and standards of measurements to their full utility; to search for truth fearlessly and unceasingly."

May these objectives guide us wisely and unite us in our work.

Faculty Member's Mother Expires

J. Dietrich Vollbrecht, instructor in German and English at Jefferson Union High School, was notified Tuesday forenoon that his mother had passed away at the family home in Hamilton, Ohio. Mr. Vollbrecht and his brother, Werner, left for the eastern city the same afternoon.

To Add Rugby To Sports Schedule

Rugby football will probably be added to the sports schedule at San Mateo Junior College, if present plans materialize. Stanford University is supplying a coach for the 25 fellows who have reported for initial workouts.

Hopes are that local colleges will develop the sport and furnish players for an all-star team in 1939 to face visiting foreign squads at the Worlds Fair in San Francisco. Australia, New Zealand and Canada are expected to send their teams to the exposition.

Xmas Entertainment Inaugurates Season

The custom of years past is to be perpetuated when the children of San Bruno will be entertained by the performers sent there in connection with the Shell Company Christmas show. The huge sound truck with its self-contained unit, including stage and wings, will be prepared to greet the boys and girls of that city, Friday afternoon, December 17, at Uncle Toms Cabin grounds.

See your recreation leader and the bulletin boards for further information.
